The Popular Culture Studies Journal

The Midwest Popular Culture Association/American Culture Association (MPCA/ACA) is the home of a journal in the field of popular culture studies.

Aims and scope:

Popular culture is at the heart of democratic citizenship. It serves as an engine driving technology, innovation, and information, as well as a methodological lens employed by the many fields that examine culture, often from an interdisciplinary perspective. Managed by The Midwest Popular Culture Association/American Culture Association (MPCA/ACA), The Popular Culture Studies Journal is an academic, refereed journal for scholars, academics, and students from the many disciplines that study America and American culture. The journal serves its membership and scholars globally who recognize and support its mission based on expanding the way we view popular culture as a fundamental component within the contemporary world.

Topics covered:

Analysis of the proceedings of the Midwest PCA/ACA and the national organization reveals that most popular culture scholars are interested in American-based:

- Film
- Music
- Television
- Sports
- Celebrity Culture
- Technology
- Literature
- Comics/Cartoons/Graphic Novels

However, many scholars approach these topics from an interdisciplinary perspective, which adds significant value over single-issue or more focused/specialized journals.

Land Recognition Statement

We acknowledge that we are meeting on traditional Native lands that are today home to representatives of well over one hundred different tribal nations. We extend our respect to all of them, including the Potawatomi, Ojibwe, and Odawa nations, who signed the Treaty of Chicago in 1821 and 1833. We also recognize the Ho-Chunk, Myaamia, Menominee, Illinois Confederacy, and Peoria people who also maintained relationships with this land.

We acknowledge that these sacred homelands were ruptured by the European invasion of the Americas. In 1493, Pope Alexander VI promulgated the Doctrine of Discovery, which seized Native lands and resources with impunity. This doctrine has been used by countries throughout the Americas, including the U.S., to legitimize colonial policies of displacement and genocide toward Native peoples and to justify colonial legacies of white superiority and global capitalism.

As MPCA is an organization that studies culture and how it impacts those around us, we reaffirm our commitment, both as an organization and as individuals, to help make our community and our society a more equitable, welcoming, and just place for all.

KEYNOTE GUEST SPEAKER
Julia Miller
President & CEO, Delmark Records
Chicago, IL

Saturday, October 5, 5:45-6:45 pm, Room 8005

“A New Era for Delmark Records - An Historic Transition”

Delmark Records was started in 1953, by Robert G. Koester, as a sole proprietorship, and a “paper business”, as a supply chain to his retail outlet, the legendary Jazz Record Mart. In 2018, I became the President & CEO, and Managing Member of Delmark Records LLC, and Elbio Barilari became the Artistic Director. Delmark is now a woman-owned, diverse, digital/e-commerce business. What does this transition mean for the artists on the label, and as an example in the music business? What is the place, role, and responsibility of labels, now?

Since 2018, Julia A. Miller has served as the President & CEO of Delmark Records, the oldest continuously operating jazz and blues record label in the US. Delmark celebrated its 70th anniversary in 2023. Prior to that, Julia was a professor in Sound and Studio Techniques at the School of the Art Institute in Chicago for seventeen years, as well as simultaneously serving as the Guitar Department head for the Music

Institute of Chicago for twenty years. Julia is a prize-winning electronic musician, composer, co-leader of the avant-jazz band Volcano Radar, an alumni of DePaul School of Music, and she received a doctorate in music composition from Northwestern University in 2005.

FEATURED SPEAKER
Dr. Francesca T. Royster
Professor of English, DePaul University
Chicago, IL.
Friday, October 4, 5:45-6:45 pm, Room 8005

“Black Country Music Futures”

In my 2022 book, Black Country Music: Listening for Revolutions, I explore historic and contemporary Black country (and country-adjacent) artists who work within this space, sometimes on the margins, sometimes within the mainstream, to exercise Black freedom, creativity and to set the record straight about country music’s multiple and sometimes contentious musical origins (which include, despite its white image, African and African American, Latinx, Indigenous, and Asian roots and influences.) Recently, there has been an explosion of critical and creative conversations around these issues. Still, “country,” is a cultural space where the flag of white supremacy can feel firmly and forebodingly planted. Despite the powerful work of interrupting the white washing of country music and spaces by musicians, filmmakers, podcasters, scholars, journalists and activists— country music’s reckoning with Black contributions and roots has yet to be fully explored. In today’s talk, I’ll explore ways that recent Black interventions in country music are making a way for new futures for both artists and fans, from Holly G.’s Black Opry Review, to Beyoncé’s Cowboy Carter.
